

Exclusive offer from Macmillan Education

Dear Swiss Secondary Teachers,

We are in extraordinary times, our worlds have been turned upside down with children sent home and school doors closed. Most of us across the global Macmillan Education team have been also dealing with difficult circumstances and have been working from home in recent weeks. Nevertheless, our first priority has remained the same: supporting our educational communities the best we can. Most recently, we have been looking at ways we can best support you, as you adjust to teaching virtually from you homes.

As a result, Macmillan Education is happy to offer all New Inspiration teachers in Canton Zurich:

1. Free access to New Inspiration Practice Online 2 and 3 for all your students (valid for 6 month)

To activate the access code, students should go to www.macmillanpracticeonline.com and register. As a teacher, you can register without a code! Once you registered, you can create virtual classes that your students can link to so that you can message them and monitor their progress. If you need help getting to know or navigating Macmillan Practice Online, you can download both Student's and Teacher's user guides directly from the homepage or the German versions from the Swiss website. If you or your students experience any technical difficulties, please contact our IT Support team at help@macmillaneducation.com.

The distribution of these codes will be executed by the Lehrmittelverlag Zurich. So, please get in touch with them directly and they will email you the amount of student codes you require.

2. Free access to the world's number one English Resource Website: Onestopenglish for every English teacher (valid for 3 month)

You can access over 10'000 downloadable high quality worksheets, at www.onestopenglish.com. We have also put together a unit by unit recommended list of resources to help you get started. These can be also downloaded from the Swiss website.

3. Free access to the New Inspiration 2 and 3 audio mp3 files

Although the Audio CDs are attached to the printed German Companions that many students already have, we know that not every school has been purchasing this component for its students. Therefore we will soon make the audio files available to download from the New Inspiration online catalogue page.

Finally, I would like to inform you that our central marketing team in London has been rapidly developing an online Distance Learning and Teaching Hub. The site will bring together know-how and additional resources in one place to support teachers across the globe, who are now having to teach remotely - potentially for some time. Please, note that new content, e-lesson plans, webinars and videos will be added constantly in the coming weeks and months.

Take good care of yourselves and let me know if there is anything else we can assist you with.

Yours sincerely,

Anikó Escher
